Immigrant moms hit a service wall

Thurs. Feb. 13, 2014, 7-9 p.m.

Conference Centre, Holland Bloorview, 150 Kilgour Rd. Toronto

Immigrant mothers face unique barriers in getting the services their children with disabilities need. York University researchers Nazilla Khanlou (far right) and Nasim Haque share the findings of their study on 30 immigrant moms in the Greater Toronto Area and their service providers.

Please RSVP by e-mail to Louise at lkinross@hollandbloorview.ca.
To book a playroom spot call Daniel by Feb. 7 at 416-425-6220, ext. 3438.
