

WOMEN'S MENTAL HEALTH AND WELL-BEING SPEAKERS SERIES

Echo Chair in Women's Mental Health Research in collaboration with York University Conference on Aboriginal Affairs Now (YUCAAN) present...

Lee Maracle

How the spiritual body is connected to our health and why Aboriginal cultural traditions are important to rebuild/strengthen our communities.

Wed September 26, 2012

3pm – 4pm

214 Calumet College, York U

Please send RSVPs to:
owhchair@yorku.ca

Ms. Maracle is an award winning author, an award winning instructor and a gifted orator. Ms Maracle has also spent much of her time doing healing and cultural reclamation work in Aboriginal communities in Canada. Maracle is currently an instructor in the Aboriginal Studies Program teaching the Oral Tradition of Ojibway, Salish and Longhouse people. She is also the Traditional Teacher for First Nation's House and instructor with the Centre for Indigenous Theatre and the S.A.G.E. [Support for Aboriginal Graduate Education]. Maracle has served as Distinguished Visiting Scholar at the University of Toronto, University of Waterloo, and the University of Western Washington and currently teaches in the Aboriginal Studies program at University of Toronto and in the theatre program at the Centre for Indigenous Theatre.

To register or learn more about the full day YUCAAN conference, please call CASS at 416-736-5571. Refreshments will be served from 1pm – 2pm.

www.yorku.ca/nkhanlou

