Ontario Multicultural Health Applied Research Network brings together Ontario-based researchers, health, social and settlement service providers, and policymakers in the field of multicultural health to explore opportunities for high quality multicultural health research and to synthesize existing research to inform health planning and management, clinical practice, and policy to ensure that health services in Ontario are culturally safe, effective, and equitable. OMHARN supports the goal of Excellent Care for All Act in Ontario to put patients first by improving the quality and value of the patient experience through the application of evidence-based health care.
